HOAGLAND'S
NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!
W. B. COOPER

HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive

Carriage Factory,
Corner of Second and Morrison Streets.
He respectfully refers to the following
CARD.

Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling invented by H. R. Hoagland, we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used.

It fastens without bolt or screw and is therefore easily and speedily separated. It has a Gutta Percha sole so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be attached in an instant, and is convenient, safe and secure.

It is easy to change to this style from a light carriage, buggy or other vehicle [illegible] at small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend it in all cases. We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent heretofore considered the best in use.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

EASTERN DATES TO MARCH 9

Congressional

WASHINGTON, March 9.—In the House [illegible] reported a resolution asking the Secretary of the Treasury for information as to what public buildings not yet commenced for which estimates are submitted this session are necessary to be commenced the next fiscal year. [illegible] asked leave to report and have put on its final passage a bill to pay the family of [illegible] Stanton one year's salary as Justice of the Supreme Court. Mungen objected.

Mungen asked leave to offer a resolution of inquiry under what authority the Internal Revenue officers recently seized private property and papers in New York and elsewhere. Jencks objected.

Garfield offered a resolution directing the Postal Committee to inquire into the expediency of adding a postal express to the mail service for sending small packages over the principal routes at reasonable rates. Adopted.

Schofield introduced a joint resolution for the advancement of naval officers for distinguished services. Referred.

The bill for an air line railroad from New York to Washington came up. Wood denounced the bill as a swindle. He said he would guarantee to give the corporators $2,000,000 for the franchise.

Cox suggested an amendment which would carry the bill through Congress to strike out the names of the corporators and insert the names of members of Congress.

Ingersoll moved the previous question which the House refused to second and the bill went over.

The morning hour expired and the House resumed the consideration of the joint resolution reported yesterday by Laflin respecting the printing of the Patent Office specifications. Jencks and Banks supported and Coke and Mungen opposed the resolution. It finally passed.

Stokes from the Committee on Census reported a Census bill which was recommitted.

Morrill of Pennsylvania introduced a bill to provide for celebrating the hundredth anniversary of American independence by holding a national exposition of arts and manufactures at Philadelphia, in 1876. Referred.

Stevenson from Committee on Mileage, reported a bill reducing mileage to ten cents per mile by the shortest practicable route. Recommitted.

In the Senate Ferry presented a petition and made remarks relative to the illegal imprisonment of Dennis P. Hatch, an American citizen by the Dominican Government. After an explanation of the case the subject was referred to a committee.

Williams of Committee on Commerce reported adversely on the House bill extending the time for the withdrawal of spirits in bond. Bayard for the minority of the committee expressed the hope that the recommendation of the majority will not be the sense of the Senate.

Trumbull reported back the House bill for the admission of Georgia and made an ineffectual attempt to have the bill passed. Sherman objected.

The House bill to supply the deficiency in the current expenses of the House, passed.

Pomeroy introduced a joint resolution denouncing the treatment of captured insurgents by Spaniards, in Cuba. Sumner suggested that it would be proper to adduce evidence on either side. He was informed that several hundred Spaniards had been shot by the insurgents. The resolution was tabled and ordered printed.

Kellogg introduced a bill to aid the construction of a railroad and telegraph from Marshall Texas, to San Diego California with branches and grants of twenty sections per mile.

Consideration of the funding bill was resumed and Corbett's amendment to strike out the provision for foreign agencies was debated. The section was stricken out, 29 to 11.

At the evening session, the bill giving the consent of Congress to the laying of tubes or a tunnel across the river from Brooklyn to New York and from New York to New Jersey passed.

Stockton by unanimous consent offered a resolution asking the Secretary of the Navy for information in regard to the sinking of the steamer Oneida in the harbor of Yokohama. Adopted.

Washington News

CHICAGO, March 9.—The Journal's Washington special says the Senate Appropriation Committee has already reduced the Legislative Appropriation bill $1,300,000 below the House estimate. They have stricken out $1,000,000 for the collection of Internal Revenue.

The Judiciary Committee has failed to agree on the question of the admission of the Georgia Senators, Hill and Miller.

Benjamin Waters is nominated as a candidate for Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Idaho.

General Quesada paid his respects to the President this morning.

New York News.

NEW YORK, March 10.—The condition of [illegible] J. Meehan, editor of the Irish American, is becoming more critical every day.

NEW YORK, March 10.—Logs of ships which arrived at this port yesterday show that during the last two months navigation has been attended with unusual perils. The severe gales of this season have been without a parallel and it is feared that many disasters have occurred which are not yet reported.

Seward will deliver an address before the New York Historical Society June 7th.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Northern Pacific Railroad to-day elected Directors. J. Gregory Smith of St. Albans, Vermont was chosen President of the Board and A. H. Barney Treasurer.

New York Gold Market. Railroad Officers Chosen

NEW YORK, March 9.—The gold market was again the scene of wild excitement. The transactions amounted to nearly one hundred millions. The fluctuations were rapid and to a considerable extent.

Armed Lawlessness in West Virginia

WHEELING, West Va., March 9.—At Charleston, Kanawha county, the recently selected Capitol of the State, a band of armed men entered town in open daylight March 22d and advancing to the jail deliberately unlocked the door and released the prisoners. They presented cocked revolvers to those who happened to be present threatening them with death if any alarm was given. The organization is said to be disposed towards the civil authorities who were powerless. It is said the Governor will call upon the U. S. Government for military aid to suppress this lawlessness.

Matters in Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, March 9.—It is now thought the defalcations of the Treasurer of Butler county will be about $100,000.

Considerable preparations are making for the approaching election of municipal officers. In the matter of School Trustees politics will be ignored. The issue will be Bible or no Bible in the schools. This issue will hardly affect the other officers.

An Off hand Duel Fatal

ST. LOUIS, March 9.—Two young men, C. W. Baldwin, the son of an old and wealthy citizen and A. J. Spahn, river pilot, quarreled at the Southern Hotel his evening about something in reference to a woman. [illegible] and they fired simultaneously. Baldwin was shot through the heart and died instantly. Spahn lies in the hospital delirious and is not expected to recover.

Murder in Kansas

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Private dispatches received here to-day report that [illegible] John W. [illegible] editor of the Kansas City Journal of Commerce was killed to-day by James Hutch[illegible]. His death was instant.

Ku Klux Lawlessness in North Carolina

RALEIGH, March 7.—Gov. Holden has issued a proclamation declaring the county of Alleghany in a state of insurrection because of numerous outrages by bands of men armed and disguised, among them the hanging of negroes at [illegible]. In that county it is believed that the law has been abolished and citizens have been whipped, scourged and threatened with further violence if they do not conform to the political standard set up by the assassins. He pledges the whole power of the State government to put a stop to these outrages and says criminals who escape into adjoining counties shall be pursued and if not delivered by the civil authorities of such counties they also will be declared in a state of insurrection.

Union Pacific Railroad Election—Report of President Ames

[illegible] March 9.—The stockholders of the Union Pacific Railroad met to-day and elected the following [illegible] for the ensuing year: [illegible] Ames, [illegible] Ames, [illegible] Atkins, [illegible] Bushnell [illegible] and [illegible] Ames [illegible] We have spent during the year [illegible] amount of snow fences put up last year. Experience shows that our road can be run without hindrance or obstruction from snow. The express business over the road was fully investigated last summer. We came to the conclusion that it would be to our interest and that of the road to dissolve the connection with Wells Fargo & Co. and do the business ourselves. The result of the change has been an increase of receipts of about thirty per cent above what we received from that firm. We made a connection with the Atlantic and Pacific Telegraph Company through which we are getting a large portion of our telegraph service free and have the expectation of realizing a handsome income from the $3,300,000 of stock we received from the Atlantic and Pacific telegraph in the use of our lines for commercial purposes. The earnings of the road as far as reported since it was first opened amount to $5,306,000. We anticipate that the gross earnings for the ensuing year will reach $12,000,000 and shall not be surprised should they largely exceed it.

Colonization in Colorado

Mr. Meeker, President of the Union Colony, of which Horace Greeley is Treasurer, has returned from a trip west in search of a location. He reports that 1,000,000 acres of land in Colorado can be purchased at $1 per acre.

Bill for Government of New York City

NEW YORK, March 10.—The new bill for this city introduced in the Assembly provides that the term of the Mayor shall expire in December, when a new one shall be elected for two years. The board of Police Commissioners are to be increased to five members elected for five years. The board of Supervisors is remodeled and increased to eighteen, three from each of the six districts, elected for three years. The Board of Education is increased to 18, elected for the same period as Supervisors. A portion of each board goes out yearly. Aldermen are to be chosen as now. Commissioners of Taxes and Commissioners of Charities, City Chamberlain, Commissioners of Croton Aqueduct and Central Park are all to be appointed by the Mayor and confirmed by the Aldermen. A board of estimates and apportionments is established, to consist of the Comptroller, Corporation Council and two judges of the Superior Court. The Board of Health is to consist of the Health officer, two practical physicians, the President of the Police Commission and probably the Mayor. No person shall hold two offices at once. The police commissioners and supervisors will be chosen next May, and hereafter all officers of city and county at the general election in November. No appropriation shall be made except on a vote of two thirds of all the members.

From Cuba

CHICAGO, March 10.—A Tribune's Washington special says several Congressmen including Senators Carpenter, Morton, Wilson and Pomeroy and Generals Banks and Logan had a private interview with Quesada yesterday. Quesada says the insurgents are as strong as ever, and General Jordan is still chief in command. He denies all stories of the surrender of bands of Cubans and asserts that they hold two thirds of the island and are sure of success. He does not care much for recognition, but wants arms and munitions of war.

Missouri News.

ST. LOUIS, March 10.—The St. Louis Merchants Bank resumed specie payment to-day. It has about $50,000 in circulation.

Two freight trains collided on the Pacific Railroad near Frank to last night injuring the locomotives and smashing several freight cars.

Rhode Island Republican State Convention.

PROVIDENCE (R. I.), March 10.—The Republican State Convention met to-day, and the present State officers were renominated by acclamation.

Bold Robbery—Capture of the Robbers

PITTSBURG, March 10.—About noon to-day three men drove up to the Farmers and Mechanics Bank at Burlingham. Two of the men entered the bank and knocked down the cashier, who was the only employe of the bank present, while the other went behind the counter and seized all the money in the desk amounting to $20,000. They then ran off. A crowd collected and pursued, catching two and securing the money.

Miscellaneous.

CHICAGO, March 9.—The Constitutional Convention voted to take a recess from March 13th to April 12th.

PHILADELPHIA, March 9.—It is reported that small pox has broken out among political prisoners confined at Huntington, Pa.

The murderers of Hohner and B[illegible]dingburg were executed to-day.

CONCORD, March 9.—Returns from 24 towns do not materially change former estimates of the result. Rev. Dr. Barrows not being a constitutional candidate his vote may be thrown out, thus increasing Stearns' majority.

BY THE CABLES.

LONDON, March 8.—John Bright is rusticating in the mountains of Wales. His health is improved.

The German and Austrian Bishops in the Ecumenical Council have agreed on the proposition of infallibility as well as other new dogmas.

LONDON, March 9.—The Conservative Association held a banquet to-night. Fowler, M. P. from Falmouth occupied the chair supported on the right by the Duke of Marlborough, Lord Hamilton, Sir J. Parkington, Hunt, Mowbray and Sir John Hays and on the left by the Duke of Abercorn, Sir Stafford Northcote, Hyde and others. Four hundred guests were present including most of the principal men of the Conservative party. Disraeli was present. There is a growing tendency to oppose the Irish education bill especially by nonconformists. Letters from the Earl of Derby, the Marquis of Salisbury and Lord Lennox were read regretting their unavoidable absence. Toasts were responded to by Lord Hamilton, Sir J. Parkington and others who spoke in condemnation of the policy of reducing the army by 24,000 men and in terms of hope concerning the influence and final ascendency of the Conservative party.

In the House of Commons this evening the bill to establish rates and provide for the maintenance of ministers and manses in Scotland was rejected.

A sturdy butcher of Cincinnati went to see Lucille Western in "East Lynne," and was so affected by the performance that he had to be removed from the theater to prevent his sobs from disturbing the audience.

Sewell Pratt, an attorney in Chicago, [illegible] published the following advertisement in [illegible] papers in that city: "Divorces legally obtained without appearance in court or publication in the papers. A common article $5."

The New York papers are hinting, and pretty broadly too, that the recent murderous assault upon Mr. Eaton, a prominent lawyer, was the result of his vigorous attacks upon the Erie Company and the corrupt Tammany ring. It is certain that those who attempted to murder him did not seek to rob, for his watch and valuables were untouched. It is not pleasant to remark that but a few days before the assault he was denounced from the bench by one of the Tammany Judges.

It has been proved beyond dispute that pain can be felt for twenty minutes after decapitation, by the following experiments, made by a Paris surgeon. Two human heads were placed in the rays of the sun and the eyelids which had been opened were immediately shut, and the head of an assassin named Terrier, which was experimented upon more than a quarter of an hour after having been separated from the body, turned its eyes when called.

Rev. Mr. Corbett, pastor of the John St. Methodist Episcopal Church, New York, preached on a Sunday morning [illegible] from the first chapter of Peter, after which he brought forth a bed-quilt and spread it over the desk. An Incident of the War.

During the war I was called frequently by telegram to Washington, generally by the Secretary of State, but occasionally by the Postmaster General, Secretary of War, Secretary of the Treasury (Mr. McCulloch) or the President. In February 1863 I received the following dispatch:

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18, 1863.
To Thurlow Weed, Albany
Can you be here to-morrow morning? Answer.
NICOLAY.

To this telegram of the President's Private Secretary I responded affirmatively, and before six o'clock the next morning was in Washington, going, as was my habit, at 8½ o'clock to breakfast with Secretary Seward. After breakfast, walking to the State Department, the Secretary remarked that the President would inform me why I had been sent for. Repairing to the White House, Mr. Lincoln, taking my hand in his cordial way, said: "We are in a tight place. Some money for a legitimate war purpose is needed immediately. There is no appropriation from which it can be lawfully taken. In this perplexity the Secretary of War suggested that you should be sent for. Can you help us to $15,000?" I replied, "Yes, Sir, but as you need the money immediately, the matter could be hastened by giving me two lines to that effect." He turned to his desk and wrote on a sheet of note paper what follows. Thus fortified I returned by the first train to New York, and before three o'clock I had shown Mr. Lincoln's note briefly explaining its import to the fifteen gentlemen whose autographs follow that of Mr. Lincoln on the same sheet of note paper.

The Democratic Quarrel in New York

It is well known that the only ground on which the Democratic party can base a claim to be considered a national organization and pretend to compete with the Republicans for the government of the country is the fact that it controls the great State of New York. Outside of that State the party has so little strength and power that it cannot make the standing of a national organization, and if it loses its hold on New York its hopes are utterly gone.

Recent developments in New York indicate that a division of the party is imminent. Advices received both by telegraph and mail show that a fierce war is going on within the party, and that the breach is widening daily. The World has taken off the gloves and proclaims war to the knife. We have received by mail the World containing a tremendous article of which mention was made by telegraph a few days ago. It begins by saying that the Democrats of New York and of the United States are entitled to know what it is about in attempting to break down the power of the organization and men who for many years have held sway in the politics of the city. It pathetically calls its friends to witness that it did not attack the Ring at a time when to have broken down their power would have divided the party. Hitherto it has, it says, contented itself with being independent of the Ring, and so incurred their hostility. Now the time has come to speak out. "But next fall," it says, "a Governor of New York is to be elected, and two years thereafter a President of the United States. In our deliberate judgment, not New York State itself can possibly be carried again by the Democracy handicapped with this millstone of the 'Ring.' What is more, the Democracy would not deserve to carry the State next fall if here where their power at the ballot box is supreme, and while at Albany they control every branch of the State Government, they shall not also proceed to sweep from power these men who have debauched our politics and defiled the name of Democracy." And so in the interest of the Democracy of the United States it frees its mind, for it tells them that if the Democrats cannot retain control of New York they need not hope to get control of the country. Next it appeals to the Republicans to witness that "not until now has it been incumbent upon us or any honest Democrats of this city and State to undertake, because till now it has not been possible for us or them to accomplish, the overthrow of this ruling Ring of dishonest Democrats." Success in this particular the World claims is an indispensable part of what is necessary to secure a Democratic triumph in 1872. And then it delivers a cruel stab at the platforms of the party in the last two Presidential campaigns. "Handicapped with this 'Ring' millstone about our necks, the Democracy of the Union can no more win in that contest than they could win in 1864 upon the peace platform of Chicago, or in 1868 upon the greenback and revolution planks of Tammany Hall."

This quarrel is altogether the most significant political indication of the times. The Ring which the World and its coadjutors assail, resolutely refuses to be put down. It is this Ring that has carried New York hitherto, and if it is broken the party loses its ascendancy at once. Nothing but the most tremendous engineery of fraud and corruption has enabled the party to carry New York, and if the Ring which triumphs by the use of these weapons is put down the party falls with it. The New York Herald sees the drift of this movement and its probable result. It says that "the end of the quarrel, as it now seems, will be to destroy the Democracy as an organization, continue Republican ascendancy for twenty years, and secure the re-election of General Grant in 1872. And then the Herald proceeds to discuss the situation as follows:

> At the last election the Democratic party, marshalled by the Tammany chiefs, carried New York — just the tremendous popularity of General Grant. The soldier's reputation swept over the country and overthrew every element of Democratic strength. Far off in California there was a little successful opposition from local irritation occasioned by the Chinese immigration. In Kentucky and Maryland and Delaware there was a kind of feudal Middle Ages devotion to slavery and the plantation Democracy which still survived the war, something like the whipping post and pillory and lottery wheel, which in those States even yet resist the march of reason and religion. Here in New York we had a progressive democratic organization, recognizing the lessons of the war and willing to bring itself in line with inevitable events. Upon war issues it made a battle and won it. In the submerging flood which covered the country with radicalism, scarcely leaving a spot large enough for a Democratic dove to rest its feet, the Democracy of New York remained intact, luminous, organized and triumphant. To New York the country looked for deliverance, and to its Democracy the beginning of the reaction, which would enable it to elect General Hancock, or Judge Chase, or some acceptable leader in 1872. On the contrary, what do we see? The triumphant army is dissolving into a mob. All its hopes are sacrificed to a struggle for spoils.
> Here the quarrel is, and it can have but one result. General Grant will be the next Republican candidate for the Presidency and walk the track as easily as Lincoln did in 1860, when the Democratic party was rent by the ambition of Douglas and Breckinridge. If the party cannot hold together in New York, where its power has stood every assault and triumphed in the darkest hours, where can it stand, of what use is it, and why not say its usefulness is over, cut it down as something that cumbereth the ground? This will be the answer of the country to the unseemly quarrels that now disgrace the Democratic councils. The wisdom and patience and moderation of General Grant, especially his financial policy, will strengthen the Republican party. The folly of the Democracy will make him a representative radical candidate, and the radicals will profit by the weakness and unholy ambition now shown at Albany to sweep the country with Grant and re-elect him by even a larger majority than that he received in 1868.

The progress of this fight is watched by all the politicians of the country with deep interest. The Ring will die hard, and should it fall it will drag down the party into its grave.

Playing for the Colored Vote

It is understood that there are about seventy-five colored men in this city who will be entitled to vote under the fifteenth amendment. Of course they are nearly all Republicans, the exceptions being a few who are supported and fed by Democratic politicians in the hope that they may be able to obtain by their influence a considerable share of the colored vote for that party. Some very rich information has come into our possession relative to recent attempts of the leaders of the "white man's party" here to get the colored vote in the coming election. It is well known that the colored citizens of Portland are making preparations to celebrate the ratification of the Fifteenth Amendment and are collecting funds for that purpose. Seeing this going on a few days ago, a happy thought struck some of the Democratic managers in Portland. Here was a chance, as they supposed, to ingratiate themselves with their colored fellow citizens and secure votes—an article which the Democracy clearly foresee they will need badly in the approaching election. Therefore proposals came from the Democratic side to furnish colored citizens one thousand dollars with which to celebrate the ratification of the Fifteenth Amendment on condition that the colored vote or the major part of it would go the Democratic ticket! Of course those overtures were rejected with scorn. But alas what are we to say of the integrity of the "white man's party," proposing to furnish money to celebrate the ratification of the odious Fifteenth Amendment if those whom they have heretofore spoken of contemptuously as "niggers" would only agree to vote with them! It is clear that the colored man is not half so offensive to Democratic nostrils as he was last year. The ballot is a great deodorizer.

Editorial Notes

Is it not the height of impertinence for Democratic papers and politicians to be talking about land grants for railroads and complaining of Republican Senators for not supporting such grants as would please them when their own party is firmly set against all grants whatsoever?

Col Chapman cries out to those imaginary legions that he assumes to command, "Friends of white labor your dearest interests are at stake!" Of course the Colonel would not insinuate that his "dearest interests are at stake" in a contest which he hopes will make him Governor! Not for the world!

A correspondent at Waconda Marion county writes us concerning the Democratic primary meeting in that precinct. He says one of the delegates elected to the County Convention is "a bed rock Democrat who is wonderfully afraid of 'Nigger equality' but who employs Chinamen to work for him because he can get them for less wages than he can white men." This bed rocker is not unlike several leading Democratic politicians hereabouts who daily split their throats with protestations of love for the white man.

Every step the Herald takes in the discussion of railroad matters leads it further and further into a labyrinth from which it can find no escape. It now admits the gross inconsistencies of its course, but attempts to beg off by pleading that, when it was advocating the Portland, Astoria and McMinnville bill, its unsuspecting simplicity had been imposed on, and that it didn't know any better! This is good. The measure which it at first declared was going to make Portland an immense commercial city it now calls a "transparent humbug." And yet it could not see through a humbug that was "transparent," until some of the politicians of its party gave assistance to its imperfect vision! But we forbear. It would, perhaps, be deemed cruel in us to press the matter further.

"Smith's bill," says the Herald, "that our cotemporary denounces as visionary, is exactly what the west side counties want." Now we have heard from many prominent west side men on this subject, and they all agree that Smith's bill in the shape in which it has been presented, would give the west side company very little land, and would be of no value worth mentioning. As we have said heretofore, the only way in which such a grant could possess any value would be by the insertion of a provision in the act allowing the company to take the lands anywhere they could find them. Smith's bill contains no such provision, and if it did, Congress would never pass it with such a provision in it. We know of no instance in which such a thing has been done. But what business has a Democratic paper to be criticising the manner in which land grants are made when its party resolutely opposes all grants? That's what many people would like to know.

Yesterday morning Col. Chapman got out his manifesto, in the shape of a poster, calling on the "friends of white labor" to rally to the primaries and support him for Governor. "Your dearest interests are at stake!" was the language of this document, "send the right men to the County Convention, men pledged to the support of Col Chapman for Governor, who will never veto a China bill, and who is sound upon the labor question!" And this bulletin ended with the stirring appeal, "your friends throughout the nation expect a good account of you to-day!" "Soldiers!" exclaimed Napoleon, "from the summit of these pyramids forty centuries look down upon you." But what was Napoleon's appeal to that of this doughty Knight of the Horny Hand? It grieves us to say, however, that there was one phase of this affair which, in future ages, will hardly be compatible with the dignity of history. Be it known that this appeal to the friends of white labor to rally for the protection of their dearest interests was circulated throughout the city by a colored man whom the Colonel had employed for the purpose! Doubtless he saved half a dollar by employing a colored bill sticker, but there were "friends of white labor" who looked on the coming "Governor's" conduct with becoming indignation.

The Tahoe Water Project

San Franciscans are looking about with some anxiety for a supply of water, and a proposition has been made to tap Lake Tahoe, a lake high up in the Sierra Nevada mountains, lying half in California and half in Nevada. To this proposition the Virginia (Nevada) Enterprise thus responds:

> Without as much as "by your leave, gentlemen," the incorporators of this enterprise propose to come into the State of Nevada and turn the waters of the Truckee river into California, for the accommodation of the people of San Francisco. Is not this the sublimity of impudence? The Truckee river is an outlet to a body of water, one-half of which is in the State of Nevada. It is through this channel that the cool waters of Lake Tahoe are carried through the parched valleys of Nevada. The stream has an abundance of fall and upon its banks at various points within the State, quartz and saw mills have been erected. The water power of the Truckee is almost unlimited and the future will see it lined with workshops mills and factories. The stream belongs to the State and no gang of San Francisco speculators backed by the authority of a Democratic Legislature can divert an inch of water from it. The amount of water proposed to be taken from the Truckee would destroy the value of the stream and there is something irritating in the manner in which the project is being discussed by the San Francisco papers. Now the people of California may take it for granted that the waters of the Truckee will not be diverted into that State and further than this we are not certain that we are prepared to permit them to tap and take a stream from any part of the lake without reserving the privilege of stopping the supply should it ever lessen the volume of the Truckee. The Truckee is the natural outlet of the lake, and there is not a Court in Christendom that would permit the State of California to divert the waters of the Lake to an extent effecting our supply through that source. With these remarks we await the action of the California Legislature in the premises. Let that body pass the bill of "The Lake Tahoe Water Company," and let the people of San Francisco vote $10 000 000 if they choose, to carry the undertaking through but when the survey shall have been made and the workmen sent to cut off the waters of the Truckee we advise the incorporators to bring to the mountains an escort of twenty regiments of militia. They will need them all for we will not submit to the proposed robbery. That's all.

Ben Butler and Shoo Fly Cox dined together with a large party at Washington recently. Nobody was "boddered" but the waiters.

Letter from Walla Walla

[illegible]

WALLA WALLA March [illegible] 1870

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

The latest storm gave us a heavy fall of snow and the mountains around received a heavy coat and are much whiter than at any time during the winter. The miners are much elated as they think they descry in the future a prosperous season. It is to be hoped that their brightest anticipations may be realized.

The resumption of navigation on the Columbia river has had the effect to give our town a more lively appearance. Among the passengers who came on the first boat were two political carpet-baggers (if I may be allowed the expression) from the Sound viz Judge Dennison and Marshall Blinn. Their reception was anything but flattering to themselves by the Republicans here. On Friday they repaired to Waitsburg to [illegible] the Republican party. It was with difficulty they could procure the school house to speak in. There was quite a respectable audience to listen to Judge Dennison's harrangue attracted there by curiosity to hear and learn what reasons he had for undertaking the task of breaking up the party to which he professes to belong.

His tirade consisted of abuse from beginning to end of Hon S Garfielde—that he had not been anything else than a Democrat and that his co workers and supporters on the Sound were a majority of them, Democrats and that he was elected by the same. I think it good policy to take a man who can draw heavily on the Democratic party. This was much needed at the time for the reason that the opposition had put forth their strongest man and it required energetic efforts to beat him. Where, let me ask, would the Republicans have been if we had run Judge Dennison in his stead? We would have been ingloriously beaten and now we would have been without any representation in Congress at all since the death of ex Gov Moore.

Judge Dennison is a clever speaker, and a plausible man, but I could not help feeling for him, laboring so earnestly in an unworthy cause. There was no enthusiasm, and no demonstration of approval, to give him aid or comfort in his personal endeavors to shake the confidence of the Republicans in their chosen representative. His personal onslaught fell still born upon the ears of his auditors, and he went away a wiser if not a better man.

Anderson Cox, replied in a short speech to Judge Dennison, and at the close of the speaking three rousing cheers were given for Garfielde which told, unmistakably, how the people there felt on the subject, and what they thought of the speakers animus, and his designs to give the next election to the Democracy.

On Saturday Judge D announced that at three o'clock he would be heard in the Court House. At an early hour the Democrats filled the house—there was such a jam a Republican could hardly get standing room. The Democrats occupied all the front seats. Prominent and foremost was W H Newell, who did a big share of the applauding, by stamping his cane on the floor. He looked for all the world as if he wished he had four good ears to hear, instead of two poor ones.

As to the speech, it was all Garfielde, from first to last—the Nesmith letter, and other naughty things he had done. He never once told us about what he was doing, or where he stood, when Garfielde was speaking and writing Democratic sentiments. I could not see the force of all this bosh. If a man finds himself wrong he has a right to change from Democracy to Republicanism. No good Republican should find fault with a man for so doing.

There was no countenance given to bolters here, for they found that the people were a unit on the subject of Republicanism as it is, and was in times past. Hence they failed to see the necessity of organizing anew. Even the acquaintances of Dennison & Co gave them no countenance in their plotting to disrupt the party, and they went away with sorrowful countenances.

The conclusion is irresistible, that if the party could do without the assistance of Dennison & Co at the last election, when they worked in secret, their frowns and displeasure will be more easily overcome, since they have come out and shown their hands. It is the opinion here that the bolters have an up hill undertaking to beat Garfielde in the next nominating convention. Yours

Our River and its Name

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

The orthography and the orthoepy of the name of our beautiful valley and of the river which drains it is, I believe, a subject not unworthy of grave discussion. The letters employed for the purpose of spelling it, should be the correct exponents of the sound and accentuation of the word or name. But there does not now appear to be, even among educated persons, any uniformity as to the method of spelling the name of the valley, which is by far the richest and most interesting portion of our State. The practice of writers is as various in this respect as can well be imagined. The difference as to accent is not less. I have no hesitancy in expressing the opinion that the correct method is to spell it thus "W-a-l-wal-l-a-m lam wallam-e-t-et-Wallamet," a half accent being placed upon the first syllable and a full accent upon the second. This I believe to be the correct orthography and orthoepy of the word. With your permission I will proceed to give my reasons. It is believed that there is a standard to which this subject may be brought which will clear up any doubt respecting it.

The word itself is of Indian origin, being purely aboriginal. The manner in which the natives pronounced it when the whites began to occupy the country, is a very conclusive reason for believing that I am correct in the opinion I have expressed, and upon which I would modestly insist. I have my doubts whether any one ever heard an Indian pronounce and accent the word other than as I have indicated. Moreover, such is now and such has always been if I am not much mistaken, the usage of the early missionaries to the Oregon Indians. And I cannot doubt that if this question be propounded to such of those missionaries as survive, their answer would concur with my views.

But still further, the Legislation of the country National, Territorial and State, fully accords with what I have said. On the 19th September, 1849 the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Oregon passed "An Act for the establishment of a pilotage on the Columbia and Wallamet rivers"—not Willamette. The law upon the subject of Pilot Commissioners and pilotage on the Columbia and Wallamet rivers was passed October 17, 1850.

On the 15th October, 1862, the Legislative Assembly of the State passed an Act, entitled "An Act amending an Act for the establishment of a Pilotage on the Columbia and Wallamet rivers"—not Willamette. The third section of the Act of Congress of Sept 27, 1850, usually known as the Donation Law, provides that a base line and meridian shall be surveyed, marked and established at or near the mouth of the Wallamet—not Willamette. The Wallamet University, now miscalled the Willamette University, was built up by the early Methodist Missionaries, upon the foundation of an Indian mission school. The Missionaries and pioneer educators may well be supposed to have a correct knowledge of the orthography of the word. The charter of that institution spells it as I have indicated. In short, there is no such incorporated body as the Willamette University. It has no place on the statute book, and therefore it can have no standing in court as either complainant or defendant. I believe that I know what I am saying. And on this account if no other the trustees of Wallamet University ought to restore the original and correct spelling to the name of their institution when that name appears at the head of their advertisements.

These remarks being made in a spirit of kindness and with the best intentions will I hope give no offence to those who in bad taste I believe and without authority I know have changed the name of their institution by changing the orthography.

Portland March 10 1870

It is said that the proprietors of the San Francisco Bulletin have discharged their old foreman John Hancock and that they are about to bring twenty printers out from the East who together with some of the present compositors of the Bulletin and Call will work for sixty cents per thousand, or fifteen cents less than the present rates. Rumor has it that many members of the Typographical Union favor a reduction of rates and that a probability exists that that body will take action on the matter before long.

The first number of the Law Bulletin published by Sumner Whitney, of San Francisco has been laid on our table. It is a journal of legal intelligence and this number contains articles on several subjects of interest to the legal fraternity.

Letter from Yaquina Bay

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

I have read many letters in your paper from correspondents residing in different parts of the State but I do not remember to have seen anything written from the Yaquina Bay or pertaining to this part of the country. It has been repeatedly asserted that anything regarding the natural advantages or future prospects of our harbor has been purposely ignored by Portland papers from political policy. However true it may be of other papers it seems unreasonable to suppose that a great State paper like the OREGONIAN with its extensive circulation and its able advocacy of Republican principles should be influenced by any such puerile motives. It is often sent East by Oregonians who take pride in forwarding it to their friends as a specimen of the progress of journalism in this State without regard to the locality in which it is published. And as our bay is not [illegible] importance I wish to give a few items in regard to the progress we have made and what at present may be considered only the few first steps to future prosperity.

Yaquina Bay since it was first thrown open for settlement has labored under considerable disadvantages. Instead of having capital and the influence of prominent men to aid in the development of its natural resources it has generally had both to contend with which has not stopped but retarded the growth it otherwise would have attained. Taking in consideration the amount of water on the bar and the good anchorage in the harbor it is equal to any as a port of entry on the Oregon coast and only needs about forty five miles of railroad to connect it with Corvallis to make it the great thoroughfare of trade between the Wallamet Valley and San Francisco, also the commercial emporium of this part of our State. The communication via the Yaquina Bay with the upper Wallamet would then be about 300 miles shorter to San Francisco than the route via the Columbia which would make considerable difference to the farming community residing in that locality in the cost of transportation as well as in distance. There has been a company organized here, with Hon Benjamin Simpson as the President, called the "Newport Transportation Company." They have commenced work on a schooner calculated to carry 125 thousand feet of lumber, with a hundred foot keel. The vessel is to be launched by the 4th of July. The Company will continue to build vessels as the increase of business will justify. Mr Simpson is also interesting himself in behalf of Yaquina Bay, by taking steps towards the erection of another mill, which is a very essential move in the right direction.

Mr Benell, one of our most influential men, returned from California on the William Ireland, having made such arrangements as will secure that vessel in making regular trips between this port and San Francisco. While there, he had an interview with the Light House Board who, being in communication with the Government at Washington, are taking into favorable consideration the erection of a first class light at the mouth of Yaquina harbor.

Captain Dodge, of the schooner Champion, sailed for Portland a few days ago. While crossing the bar he signaled three fathoms of water in the channel when the tide lacked two hours of being full. He will probably ply regularly between here and Portland.

Petitions to Congress are circulating in Benton county regarding the removal of the Indians from the Siletz Reservation, which are being extensively signed without regard to party. Should they be removed, it would be speedily settled by whites. There is land enough for fifty or more families, which would greatly add to the wealth and population of the county. Dr Kellogg, of Portland has written to have the steamboat Pioneer repaired and in running order by spring, when she will make her daily trips from the head of tide to the beach. You will perceive that the prospects of lively times this summer are good, and many years cannot elapse before the locomotive will be substituted for horse flesh, and ocean steamers will be seen ploughing the waves between here and the metropolis of California, and our harbor may yet become white with the sails of vessels from every clime.

KEEPING A SECRET. The editor of the Nineteenth Century has come out in a series of articles upsetting the old theory that a woman cannot keep a secret. The substance of his arguments is about this: Women carry with them [illegible] that would kill any man. Woman never tells, man always does. Woman suffers and dies, man confesses and lives. Man cannot keep a secret, woman cannot make it known. What is sport to the man is death to the woman. "Adam was a sneak. Eve would have kept the apple a secret." Who ever heard a woman tell about her lover's kisses? Everybody has heard men gossip. Man delights in telling of his [illegible] conquests, woman would cut her tongue out first. Men are coarse in their club room talk, women refined in their parlor conversation. Who ever heard of a woman telling of her lovers? Who has not listened to the dissipations of the men? Men boast, women do not. Women never tell tales out of school, men are always telling. So, down goes another old adage. Woman can keep a secret, and her ability to do so is proved by the conduct of the Newfoundland girl, who did not tell her lover she was worth four millions in her own right until after her marriage. Show us the man who could effect such a concealment as that.

BRIEF MENTION —The Commissioners' C[illegible] for Multnomah county, will meet this morning for the transaction of busin[illegible]

It has been announced that the steamer California will leave Victoria to-day for this port,—hour 6 o'clock A. M.

Mrs Nancy Boggs, [illegible] of [illegible] was honorably acquitted in the Circuit Court yesterday Judge Upton, presiding.

The jury in the case of Bridget Birney vs. L. M. Starr being unable to agree was discharged yesterday.

A full cargo of produce from the steamer [illegible] yesterday morning, was discharged on board the bark Whistler loading for San Francisco.

The big ox Mount Hood, started for a trip eastward, across the continent from San Francisco, by railroad.

The weather yesterday was very pleasant indeed, [illegible]

A BENEFIT IN PROSPECT.—The Portland Fire Department have been tendered a [illegible] by the Gregorys, on their return from Salem. The matter was placed before the Board of Fire [illegible], at a meeting held on Wednesday evening at the [illegible] of Columbian Engine Company No 2, and the proffered benefit was accepted, whereupon a committee of arrangements composed of three members from each company, was appointed, as follows: Messrs W H Wood W A Hart and M. M. Ellis of Wallamet Engine Co No 1; A. A. Williams Wm A Holbrook and D M. Gault, of Multnomah Engine Co No 2; Thos. G Young, Wm O Bruen and John Holton, of Columbian Engine Co No 3; J Wilcox, C. H. Marvin and D Monastes of Protection Engine Co No 4; C Diets, A Hermanson and P Temple of Vigilance Hook and Ladder Co. No 1.

THE LATEST NEW THING —And now [illegible] new thing for brides in the shape of a plain gold locket, which the bridegroom fastens about the neck of his bride and locks it with a key. The key is put upon his watch chain and thus, we are informed with charming naivette, "both are constantly reminded of each other." And has it come to this that a lock and key are recommended to remind newly married couples of each other? We had supposed that the demand for chints, chignons, loves of bonnets, switches, hoop-skirts, and so forth, would furnish a constant reminder of his captivity to the husband and late hours a like reminder to the wife. But this is an age of invention.

DEMOCRATIC [illegible] —The Democratic primary meetings were held last evening, for the election of delegates to the County Convention, to be held Saturday the 12th inst. The following is a list of delegates elected for city precincts:

Central Precinct — J C Protzman, Wm Beck, Thos Burke, B F Shattuck

Washington — [illegible] Whitehouse, Joe Petty, John B Holton, J [illegible] Bachmar, Wm Wallace

South Portland — Jas Wilson, Chas Emmons, W Church

North Portland — Joe Tucker, J Lyons, G Wilkins, G Marsh

SAILED. The North Pacific Transportation Co's steamship Moses Taylor cleared from this port for San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The following were passengers: Gideon Tibbitts, Miss Gibson, Geo Blake, Mrs Anna Baker and child, Miss Minnie Barrett, I Hagerman, Van Rensselaer, B Bloman, [illegible] Quesenberry, J H Kepey and wife, M H [illegible] Joseph Freeman, B G Torrance, W H [illegible] A Cohen, Mrs A. [illegible] stepped into the gas fitting establishment [illegible] First street and asked if he could be accommodated [illegible] plumbing. He was answered in the affirmative and the proprietor wished to know what sort of work would be required [illegible] Mr [illegible] the pipe and the work was done [illegible]

OUR MAIL [illegible] —It can no longer be a question in the minds of any [illegible] that the Portland Postoffice does a much larger business in proportion [illegible] than is generally supposed [illegible] heavy leather sacks [illegible] went down [illegible] California. The specimen of [illegible] may be considered a pretty fair [illegible] the character of our citizens [illegible] writing classes [illegible]

[illegible] —A [illegible] chance for a good housekeeper is offered in our advertising columns this morning. The New Columbian Hotel is for sale. The advertiser says: Don't stand back if you wish to buy into such business as it will most certainly be sold by the first day of April

The Daily Oregonian.

FRIDAY MORNING MARCH 11 18 0

CITY.

THE WASHINGTON COUNTY HOMICIDE.—Our readers will remember that on the night of the 6th of December last Courtney Meek killed Jacob Smith in a saloon in Hillsboro in Washington county It will also be remembered that young Meek immediately fled Although a large reward was offered for his apprehension the officers of justice have not been able to get any information respecting him the general opinion however, being that he had taken refuge among some of the Indian tribes of British Columbia We have recently been informed that the facts constituting the history of this affair are wholly unlike those which at first gained credence among the people. Not because either himself or his friends believed him to have been guilty of an unlawful killing, but because it was believed that being a half Indian he had no fair show to obtain just consideration at the hands of a community entertaining strong prejudices against his race We have also learned from a reliable source that Judge Thornton upon having the case submitted to him for an opinion, has said that the killing was a very clear case of self defence, and that no jury will convict of murder in any of its degrees upon the state of facts submitted to him As a consequence of this opinion, a messenger will be sent for young Meek so as to have him here in time for trial at the Spring term of the Circuit Court for Washington county, when he will be defended by Judge Thornton, who has been retained for the purpose

THE COMING STEAMER.—The steamship Ajax sailed from San Francisco for this port yesterday at 11 o'clock. The following is her list of passengers, from the Evening Commercial Mrs S H Smith, Miss E. Derby, B F Hutchings and wife, L M Starr and wife, W H Gray and wife M Jacobson and wife, Miss Kate Longworth Mrs H. C. Coulson, H Rosenfeldt S Redlich D M French, Lieut. Hawley, H E Mann, C E Walker, Mrs. Scott, Miss Oppenheimer, Mrs [illegible] and four children, Capt F G Miller and wife, C. O. Clark, wife and child, Mrs Wood C. H. Kelly and wife, J. Blake and wife, and 75 in the steerage.

[illegible]—The editor of the Nineteenth [illegible] out in a series of articles [illegible] the old theory that a woman can not [illegible]. The substance of his argument is about this: Woman carry with them [illegible] any man. Woman never [illegible]. Women suffers and dies, man [illegible] Man cannot keep a secret, [illegible] make it known; What is sport to the man is death to the woman Adam [illegible] Eve would have kept the apple a secret. Who ever heard a woman talk about her lover's kisses? Everybody has heard man gossip. Man delights in telling of his illicit conquests; [illegible] would cut her tongue out first. Man recounts in their club room "talk" women retailed in parlor conversation. Who ever heard a [illegible] of her lovers? Who has not [illegible] dissipations of the men? Men [illegible]. Women never tell tales [illegible] always babbling So, [illegible] Woman can keep a secret, and her ability to do so is proved by the [illegible] New England girl, who did not tell her lover she was worth four millions in her [illegible] marriage. Show us the man who could effect such a concealment as that

[illegible]—The Commissioners' Court for [illegible] county, will meet this morning for the [illegible] of business

It was [illegible] that the steamer Cali[illegible] Victoria to-day for this port,—[illegible] o'clock A. M.

[illegible] Boggs, accused of larceny, was [illegible] acquitted in the Circuit Court yesterday, [illegible] Upton, presiding.

The [illegible] case of Bridget Birney vs. L [illegible] unable to agree, was discharged [illegible]

A full cargo of produce from the steamer Senator [illegible] morning, was discharged on board the bark Whistler, loading for San Francisco

[illegible] Hood, started for a trip east [illegible] the continent from San Francisco by [illegible]

The [illegible] yesterday was very pleasant indeed, [illegible]

A NEW [illegible] PROSPECT.—The Portland Fire [illegible] have been tendered a benefit by the [illegible] their return from Salem The matter [illegible] before the Board of Foremen, at a [illegible] held on Wednesday evening at the house of [illegible] Engine Company No 3, and the [illegible] was accepted, whereupon a committee [illegible] arrangements, composed of three members [illegible] company, was appointed, as follows: [illegible] W. H. Weed, W A Hart and M [illegible] of Willamette Engine Co No 1, A A [illegible] Holbrook and D M Gault of [illegible] Engine Co. No. 2, Thos G Young, [illegible] and John Holton of Columbian Engine Co. No. 3, J. Wilcox, C H. Marvin and [illegible] of Protection Engine Co No 4, [illegible] and P Temple of Vigilance [illegible] Ladder Co No 1

THE [illegible] THING.—And now comes a [illegible] for brides in the shape of a plain gold [illegible], the bridegroom fastens about the neck of his bride and locks it with a key The key is worn on his watch chain, and thus, we [illegible], with charming naivette, "both are reminded of each other" And has it come to this, that a lock and key are recommended to newly married couples of each other? We had supposed that the demand for [illegible], loves of bonnets, switches, [illegible] and so forth, would furnish a constant reminder of his captivity to the husband and late hours a like reminder to the wife. But this is an age of invention.

DEMOCRATIC PRIMARIES — The Democratic [illegible] were held last evening for the [illegible] of delegates to the County Convention, to be held Saturday, the 12th inst The following is a list of delegates elected for city precincts

Central Precinct—L. C Protzman Wm Beck Thos. Burke, S. F Shattuck

[illegible]—B G Whitehouse Jos Petty John S. Holton, Jos Bachman Wm Wallace

South Portland—Jas Wilson Chas Simmons W Ulrich.

North Portland—Jos Tucker, J Lyons, G Wilkins, G. Marshall

SAILED.—The North Pacific Transportation Co's [illegible], Moses Taylor, cleared from this port for San Francisco, yesterday afternoon The following were passengers Gideon Tibbits Miss Shaw, Geo. Blake, Mrs Anna Baker and child Miss Minnie Bassett, D Hagerman Van Rensselaer, R. Bigelow, L. Dusenberry, J H Kepey and wife, M. Blinn, S Simpson Joseph Freeman [illegible], Torrance, W. H Pierce, A Cohen Mrs A Cohen, Capt. H S Penney F Fay P D Fay and wife, Mrs Bertha Smart and child C [illegible] Ball, wife and two children, Wells, Fargo & Co's messenger

NEW STYLE OF PLUMBING.—Yesterday a new comer [illegible] into the gas fitting establishment 118 First street, and asked if he could be accommodated "with a man and pipe" to go to his new domicil with him and there do a job of plumbing He was answered in the affirmative and the proprietor wished to know what sort of work would be required of his employee Mr new-comer replied that he wanted a stove put up Charley thought that was a new style of plumbing, but he sent a man and the pipe and the work was done satisfactorily

OUR MAIL EXPORTS.—It can no longer be a question in the minds of any but that the Portland Post Office does a much larger business in proportion to the number of clerks than is generally [illegible] Post Offices. Fifteen heavy leathern sacks and quite a number of the other kind went down to the steamer yesterday for California This species of our mail exports may be considered a pretty fair index of the character of our citizens, showing that the reading and writing classes are increasing in numbers

HOTEL FOR SALE.—An excellent chance for a [illegible] is offered in our advertising columns this morning The New Columbian Hotel is for sale. The advertiser says Don't stand back, if you wish to buy into such business as it will most certainly be sold by the first day of April.

ANOTHER OREGON INVENTION.—Mr W Tuttle of Oregon City left by the steamer Moses Taylor for a trip east with the models and his patent for hand trucks and wheelbarrows made almost wholly of iron The frames are of malleable iron Mr Tuttle claims that they can be made by the hundred by machinery at about the same cost as wooden ones that they will be lighter [illegible] and last much longer

[illegible].—A perfect dearth has stealthily crept over the business of the city Recorder Not an [illegible] Butperhaps this state of things will not last very much longer as the Democratic Primaries were held in the city yesterday

SERMONS TO YOUNG MEN.—The Rev Albert S Nicholson of Vancouver will preach the fourth of the series of sermons to young men in Trinity Church on Sunday evening next Subject The perils which beset Young Men

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT DEADY J—[illegible] Esq steamship [illegible] appeal from District Court, order for letters Rogatory to issue take testimony in foreign country The Court adjourned until Tuesday the [illegible]

ARRIVING.—The steamer leaving San Francisco yesterday for this port brings Mr A J Dufur and family who have been absent to Vermont and other parts of the Eastern States

Any information of Elisha or James Vearry will be gladly received by their sister and brother in law Mary and Thomas Jackson Green River Henry county Ill

A correspondent at North Yamhill writes us a long letter relative to the reported disturbance at a recent school exhibition there He says the affair really amounted to nothing and there was no need of its occurrence The letter is long enough to fill a column of this paper, and viewing the matter in the light suggested by our correspondent, as being "of no consequence" we cannot give room for it

Mr T W Davenport, a member of the last House of Representatives writes to the Statesman showing that the House Journal of the last session has been falsified, by somebody in several important particulars especially in regard to the various motions concerning a final adjournment and the action of the House upon the general appropriation bill In one or two respects the action of the House upon motions is falsely stated while no mention at all is made of several motions which were actually offered and acted upon The letter is damaging to the committee who had the completion of the Journal in charge

The Tea Trade

GROWTH OF THE BUSINESS—THE TRAFFIC IN THIS COUNTRY AND IN EUROPE.

Some of our modern luxuries, which have come to be regarded by many almost as necessaries of life, are of comparatively recent date Before the romantic adventures and explorations of Sir Walter Raleigh and his still more romantic accounts of them the fragrant Havana had not begun its soothing mission in the club house of the gentleman or the attic of the philosopher, and at the same date "the cup that cheers but not inebriates" was hardly known beyond the happy confines of the Celestial Empire A century or two later, when Dr Johnson wrote his elaborate pamphlet in defence of his own favorite weakness, and "the solid men of Boston" turned historical masqueraders and made a huge teapot of their harbor to show their contempt for King George and his subservient Parliament, the cheerful click of the cup and spoon had already become household music throughout civilized Europe and enterprising America. Since that time the China trade has formed an important part of the commerce of the world, and its principal object has been to obtain supplies of those cubical boxes, marked with mysterious hieroglyphics which figure so conspicuously in the stock in trade of every respectable grocer

Russia carried on considerable trade with China as early as the latter part of the fifteenth century, when caravans from Siberia and Bokhara traversed the plains of Tartary, and in exchange for furs, obtained the silks and satins of Pekin and Nankin and small supplies of tea from Canton and Shanghae. Two centuries later this commerce was regulated by treaty, and the system of stamps was adopted, which has continued in use to this day Tea was first introduced into Southern and Western Europe by the Dutch, in the early part of the seventeenth century, when they had almost a monopoly of the foreign commerce of the continent, but it was unknown in England until after 1650 Even then this commodity was a luxury, enjoyed only by the favored few, and in the ten years from 1700 to 1710, the total importation was no more than 800,000 pounds From 1710 to 1810, 750,000 000 pounds of the fragrant leaf were brought to England and during the next twenty years the importation amounted to 427,000 000 pounds, or more than 20,000,000 pounds per year Since that time the traffic has grown immensely, and to-day the importation of tea from China to Great Britain amounts to more than £10,000,000 sterling in value every year.

The American tea trade began soon after the little disturbance which accompanied the establishment of our national independence had been thoroughly settled, and in 1784 New York merchants sent vessels to China for the much esteemed commodity, establishing a direct trade with the Celestials entirely on a specie basis A few years later the merchants of Boston and Salem commenced what may be denominated the indirect trade with China. Vessels were dispatched to the northwest coast with a variety of merchandise, where they took in cargoes of furs and proceeded to the Asiatic ports There they obtained the product in question and made a long and roundabout voyage homeward This method of conducting the business flourished for some years, and many a New England merchant got rich by the staunch sailing vessels of the day but in time New York, with her direct trips and specie basis gained the advantage and Boston and Salem, as well as Philadelphia, which had adopted the same system of China trade began to decline while the young and enterprising Metropolis steadily advanced in this profitable traffic

The whole amount of tea brought to this country in 1784 5 the first year of the business, was 880 100 pounds Two years later five ships were employed in the China trade and brought over 1 186 860 pounds of tea This department of commerce steadily increased and in 1802 6 543 tons of American shipping were engaged in it 2 590 tons sailing from Boston 2,900 from Philadelphia and 1 0[illegible] from New York Since that time the relative position of the three cities has been reversed and at present by far the greatest quantity comes into the port of New York By the year 1825 one New York merchant had built up such a flourishing China trade as to dispatch a vessel to the Celestial ports every month a remarkable achievement for those days The tariff of 1824 and the act regulating the British colonial trade in 1826 somewhat impeded the business but in 1831 32 there were fifty one American vessels constantly passing between the Western Continent and the Eastern limits of the world in quest of this one article of luxury and during that year they brought 1 [illegible]50 18[illegible] pounds to this country In 1836 the importation amounted to 16 381 125 pounds and was valued at $5 341 366 The import of tea at the port of New York alone now amounts to about $12 000 000 annually and the establishment of friendly and commercial relations with the great Empire on the other side of the world is likely among its less important effects to contribute still more to the luxury which we borrowed from the Celestials so many years ago and have persevered in so universally since —New York Times

A Body and Mind Diseased

Such is dyspepsia The stomach and the brain are too intimately allied for the one to suffer without the other so that dyspepsia and despondency are inseparable. It may be added too that irritation of the stomach is almost invariably accompanied by irritation of the temper

The invigorating and tranquilizing operations of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is most powerfully developed in cases of indigestion. The first effect of this agreeable tonic is comforting and encouraging A mild glow pervades the system, the chronic uneasiness in the region of the stomach is lessened and the nervous restlessness which characterizes the disease is abated The improvement is not transient It is not succeeded by the return of the old symptoms with superadded force, as is always the case when unmedicated stimulants are given for the complaint Each dose seems to impart a permanent accession of healthful invigoration But this is not all The aperient and anti billious properties of the preparation are scarcely secondary in importance to its tonic virtues If there is an overflow of bile the secretion is soon brought within proper limits, and if the biliary organ is inert and torpid, it is toned and regulated The effect upon the discharging organs is equally salutary and in cases of constipation the cathartic action is just sufficient to produce the desired result gradually and without pain The Bitters also promote healthy evaporation from the surface which is particularly desirable when sudden changes check the natural perspiration and produce congestion of the liver coughs and colds The best safeguard against all diseases is bodily vigor and this the great Vegetable Restorative essentially promotes

My Saint.

This tiny old woman in faded black gown,
With her funny pug nose so saucy and quaint,
So trim and complete from her feet to her crown—
You'd scarcely believe it, but she is my saint.
The clear brown eyes grown heavy with care,
The little brown hands the worse for wear,
The thinning strands of her silvery hair
Are still to my heart unspeakably fair.

Many a year have we journeyed together,
I often despondent, quite heart-sick and faint,
She bravely defying the stormiest weather—
Herself sweetest sunshine—my glorious saint!
Never a care have I borne alone,
Never in solitude made my moan;
Nearer and nearer the tie has grown,
Flesh of my flesh is she, bone of my bone.

The beauty that dwells in her wrinkled old face,
This poor silly pen of mine never can paint,
'Tis a halo from heaven—a natural grace
For the soul that looks out from the eyes of my saint.
Early and late, by night and by day,
Whether I watch or whether I pray,
That soul still lightens my toilsome way,
Its truth my evangel, its love my stay.

Capital Punishment.

Old master Brown brought his ferrule down,
His face was angry and red,
"Anthony Blair, go sit you there,
Among the girls," he said.

So Anthony Blair with a mortified air,
And his head hung down on his breast,
Went right away and sat all day
By the girl who loved him best.

The Red River Convention.

THE BILL OF RIGHTS AS ADOPTED.

[From the St. Paul Press, Feb. 19.]

The List of Rights was submitted to the Convention by Mr. Riel on behalf of the Committee, on Jan. 29, was taken up article by article. We give below the full text of the Bill of Rights, in the form in which each article was finally adopted:

ARTICLE 1. That in view of the present exceptional position of the Northwest, duties upon goods imported into the country shall continue as at present (except in the case of spirituous liquors,) for three years, and for such further time as may elapse until there be uninterrupted railroad communication between Red River Settlement and St. Paul, and also steam communication between Red River Settlement and Lake Superior.

ART. 2. That as long as this country remains a territory of the Dominion of Canada there shall be no direct taxation, except such as may be imposed by the local legislature for municipal or other local purposes.

ART. 3. That during the time this country shall remain in the position of a territory in the Dominion of Canada, all military, civil and other public expenses in connection with the general government of the country, or that have hitherto been borne by the public funds of the Settlement, beyond the receipt of the above mentioned duties, shall be met by the Dominion of Canada.

ART. 4. That while the burden of public expense in this Territory is borne by Canada, the country be governed under a Lieutenant-Governor from Canada and a Legislature, three members of whom, being head of departments of the Government, shall be nominated by the Governor-General of Canada.

ART. 5. That after the expiration of this exceptional period the country shall be governed, as regards its local affairs, as the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec are now governed, by a Legislature chosen by the people, and a Ministry responsible to it, under a Lieutenant-Governor appointed by the Governor-General of Canada.

ART. 6. That there shall be no interference by the Dominion Parliament in the local affairs of this Territory, other than is allowed in the other Provinces; and that this Territory shall have and enjoy, in all respects the same privileges, advantages and aids, in meeting the public expenses of this Territory, as the Province of Ontario has and enjoys.

ART. 7. That while the Northwest remains a Territory the Legislature have a right to pass all laws local to the Territory, over the veto of the Lieutenant-Governor by a two-thirds vote.

ART. 8. A Homestead and Pre-emption Law.

ART. 9. That while the Northwest remains a Territory, the sum of 25,000 a year be appropriated for schools roads and bridges.

ART. 10. That all public buildings be at the cost of the Dominion Treasury.

ART. 11. That there shall be guaranteed uninterrupted steam communication to Lake Superior within five years, and also the establishment by rail of a connection with the American railway as soon as it reaches the international line.

The next article gave rise to a lengthy discussion. As introduced it was as follows:

That the military force required in this country be composed of natives of the country during four years.

This article was warmly supported by Messrs. Riel and Donohue, but it was strongly opposed on the French as well as on the English side of the Convention, on various grounds one of the strongest of which were that the people of the settlement were almost all connected by ties of relationship, and that if a disturbance arose a military force of natives would be compelled to fight against their own kindred. Another was that the natives of the country had no particular taste for military pursuits, and in case of any great outbreak of Indians, or in any other quarter, they could not spare men enough from their industrial pursuits to garrison the country. Besides—and this was the most effective argument—English troops of the line would bring money into the country, and make a market for their products. These considerations prevailed, and a motion of Mr. Bunn to strike out Article 12 was carried by a vote of 23 to 15. The following Articles were then adopted:

ART. 13. That the English and French languages be common in the Legislature and Courts, and that all public documents and acts of the Legislature be published in both languages.

ART. 14. That the Judge of the Supreme Court speak the French and the English language.

ART. 15. That treaties be concluded between the Dominion and the several Indian tribes of the country as soon as possible.

ART. 16. Until the population of the country entitles us to more, we have three representatives in the Canadian Parliament—one in the Senate and two in the Legislative Assembly.

ART. 17. That all the properties, rights and privileges, as hitherto enjoyed by us, be respected, and that the recognition and arrangement of local customs, usages and privileges, be made under the control of the local Legislature.

ART. 18. That the two-mile hay privilege be converted into a fee simple ownership.

The Bill of Rights, adopted as above, has been submitted to the Canadian Commissioner, Smith, for his opinion.

Divisions among the New York Democracy

The New York Herald has an article on the threatened split of the Democratic party in that State, and shows that there is every probability that its divisions will result in defeat. We copy the following:

The paltry squabble between the "hards" and "softs" over the spoils of the Custom House in 1853 split the party into two hostile factions in the next election, whereby they lost the State. Nor was it fully recovered from that day until last November, and then it was recovered upon a vote of two hundred thousand short of the poll of 1868—a very clear case of popular indifference as to the result. We see, indeed, in these disaffections at Albany something of the same symptoms that culminated in the national break-up of the party at the Charleston Convention. The trouble which led to that collapse first broadly developed itself in New York in the "free soil" bolt of Martin Van Buren in 1848 against the regular Democratic nomintion of General Cass, and in the setting up of Van Buren as the independent "free soil" candidate—a bolt which, in dividing the New York Democracy, gave the State to the Whigs, which elected General Taylor President. The history of the ups and downs of the New York Democracy is full of such warnings.

The reserved popular vote of two hundred thousand in the election of last November is another warning to them that the unexpected success was but an accident. They must hold together now, the factionists must respect the will of the majority, the party must do the work before it, or the election of next November may be the beginning of the end of the whole concern.

Spain—Government Relations with Rome.

PROTEST AGAINST THE DOGMA OF INFALLIBILITY.

The Madrid Gazette of recent date publishes the document referred to by cable as having been written by the Spanish Minister of State, Senor Martos, respecting the Ecumenical Council at Rome thus:

TO THE SPANISH CHARGE D'AFFAIRES IN ROME.

YOUR EXCELLENCY:—The meeting of an Ecumenical Council in Rome in our days cannot fail to arouse the attention of the Powers of Europe. This it has in reality done, and the interest with which the governments and peoples have looked upon this important point corresponds to the gravity of the case and the strangeness of the circumstances. The novelty of a Council promoted by the spontaneous call of the Holy See little favorable generally to such meetings of the universal Church; the general terms and indirect form of the convocation, the probability that the abnormal situation of Rome may lessen the authority of the decisions of the Episcopate, the profound secresy in which the conciliar congregations have enveloped the preparatory labors, on the one side, and the attitude of the Church in these latter times, the rigid intolerance of the Roman Court, the frequent intrusions of the religious authority in matters essentially proper to civil jurisdiction, the doctrine sustained by ecclesiastics of high position, the protest of the Holy See against certain political acts founded on popular sovereignty, base of all modern public rights, the anathemas fulminated against ideas which are cardinal points in the civilization of the nineteenth century, and more than all, the recent boastings of a celebrated religious society in publications invested with a semi-official character, have been sufficient to arouse suspicion and grave fears in some governments who consider the proximate Ecumenical Council hostile to the secular powers and dangerous in a high degree to the internal peace of the nations. The Spanish government on their part have not deemed it necessary to intervene in the matter so long as these anticipations of evil were not confirmed and might prove exaggerated.

Among the propositions which, with or without reason are attributed to the promoters of the Council, two principally have alarmed the temporal Powers—the declaration of the infallibility of the Pope and the sanction of the anathemas fulminated in the Syllabus against the ideas of modern civilization. Both suppositions are doubtless at least premature, though possibly not unfounded. It would not be prudent of the Holy Pontiff to try to augment an authority almost omnipotent of itself, nor would it be likely that a Council, by recognizing the infallibility of the Pope, should close for ever the door of all future gatherings of the Church; neither is it natural, on the other side, for already absolute Powers to seek the augmentation of their force in the vote of deliberative assemblies; this much, as regards the first point. As regards the second, it is not to be supposed that the heads of the universal Church, whatever their proceedency, united together in such critical moments and on an occasion so solemn, would forget their own interests so far as to declare their spirit incompatible with the spirit which gives life and vigor to the modern world. At all events, for the improbable case that the Catholic Church, passing the natural limit of its high jurisdiction, should seek to invade the dominion of the temporal Powers, the Spanish government will assuredly find in reason, in public opinion and in the laws the means necessary to repel, without malevolence or debility, all intrusions of that nature, and of external authority, as also to maintain all its subjects in respect, and all functionaries in obedience, without distinction of class or position. In this confidence, though reserving the proper exercise of their rights, the Spanish government have not for the moment judged it necessary to adopt any preventive measure. Spain, as a liberal nation, has no wish to place obstacles to the legal acts of any religious community, and as a people zealous for their dignity fears not the intrusion of any foreign element in the sphere of its institutions and the march of its public powers. Such are the motives of its conduct in the present case. Your Excellency will manifest them to the government of his Holiness, expressing at the same time the hope that the government of his Highness Regent indulge that the wisdom of the Pontifical See and the prudence of the Catholic episcopate will maintain this benevolent disposition, and render unnecessary all measures capable of altering the good harmony which has ever existed in Spain between both Powers.

God guard your Excellency many years.

CHRISTO MARTOS,
Minister of State.

The immense tracts of land in the valley of the Rio Grande, granted to individuals and families by the King of Spain, when the country was under Spanish dominion, are now a drawback and stumbling block to settlements. The size of these grants and gratuities was imperial. In one case 442,000 acres were covered by one patent, and sixty square leagues were in several instances donated.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

PORTLAND, March 10, 1870.

Since our last weekly review of the markets, legal tenders have advanced from 89½ to 91. Rates as we [illegible] judge, the price of gold is likely to decline still further, and there are those who believe that it will go down to par. The more probable thing is that after touching a few points lower there will be a "corner" in the market and gold will go back to possibly near 115. We are hardly prepared to believe that the extreme decline is to be yet a permanent one.

The hardware merchants of San Francisco have within the last week held meetings and agreed to, on a general revision of prices. The decline of gold at New York has made it necessary to advance all staples at least twenty per cent, and private advices state that all staples are held at the advance. As a general thing, however, the dealers in this city have concluded to adhere for the present to the old rates, and await the developments of the coming week, in relation to the currency. It is admitted on all hands that, if gold remains down, all goods purchased in Eastern markets must be eventually marked up, or the dealers must suffer serious loss. What is true of hardware is also true of goods in other lines, though where profit margins are wider than upon hardware, the necessity for this action is, of course, less urgent.

We find that during the week there has been some improvement in general trade. Orders from various sources have been more numerous, though, as yet they are for comparatively limited quantities. The uncertainty in regard to prices to be settled upon, has the effect to retard somewhat the activity in business, which, it is believed, would have occurred, otherwise, at an early day.

In the produce market, we find business, other than that done by shippers, dull. Wheat—Good white is in demand at 72½a75c; red, unchanged. Bacon—The supply is large and prices not strong. Butter—There is an unusual quantity of common and ordinary upon the market, which has a depressing effect upon the choicer grades. We quote good fresh at 18 a 20c; but there is more butter going at 15c than at 20. Eggs—In full supply and weak at 18 a 20c. We invite special attention to our table of quotations which are carefully revised, to-day, throughout.

Receipts of Domestic Produce to-day. Apples, 149 bxs; Bacon, 6 cs; Bran, 208 sks; Butter, 25 kegs; Dried Apples, 18 hf bbls; Eggs, 51 bxs; Flour, 4,256 qr sks; Furs, 5 bales; Lard, 1 cs; Middlings, 110 sks; Oats, 31 sks; Pig Iron, 2 tons; Shorts, 112 sks; Wheat, 301 bags.

The shipment of leading articles of produce by the Moses Taylor, which sailed for San Francisco at 4 o'clock P. M. to-day, was as follows: Apples, 1,000 boxes; Bacon, 15 cs and 124 gunnies; Eggs, 284 boxes; Flour, 14,115 qr sks; Lard, 50 hf bbls; Middlings, 47 sks, Oats, 150 sks; Onions, 215 sks; Potatoes, 700 gunnies; Peas, 103 sks; Salmon, 33 cs, 9 bbls; Wheat, 169 bags.

Shipping Intelligence.

The steamship Moses Taylor, Metzger, Commander, sailed at 4 o'clock P. M. for San Francisco, with 28 passengers and a full freight.

The steamship Ajax sailed from San Francisco for Portland at 11 o'clock this morning, with 154 passengers. She is advertised to sail hence on Wednesday, the 16th.

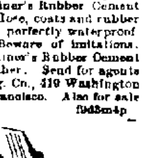
TO THE UNFORTUNATE.
NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES
Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,



623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies, see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of it by his complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN.

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of those fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen, and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory, and you will not find their Medical Institutes in it, but you will find their former occupations in it. Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863. The only way to avoid imposition is to make enquiry. It will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets, for, as advertising physicians, in eight cases out of ten, are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patient's letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat disease that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, (Private Entrance on Commercial) San Francisco. Post Office Box 252.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 252 ON THE LETTER.

Consultations FREE.

Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the Daily Oregonian. jy6d4ptf
